

Sida – a live mic

For a conference organized by Sida, Parlamic developed an interactive microphone that was placed on a table in the coffeebreak room and where conference visitors after each sessions could give input about what they found most interesting. This input was analyzed and visualized in real-time in graphical interface and online participants all over the world could take part of it.

Human Rights and Environment Nexus 11-13 November

Opinions and views from participants – analyzed in real-time by Parlamic

